The Republican Nominess. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

General Benjamin Harrison, son of Hon. J. Scott Harrison, and grandson of President William Henry Harrison, was born at the home of his grandfather, North Bend, Ohio, August 20, 1833. He was thus seven years old when his distinguished ancestor was elected president of the United States, in 1840, on the Whig platform of protection for American industry. He graduated at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1852, when he was nineteen years old with high honors. He began the study of law in Cincinnati, and a year after his graduation, he married Miss Carrie L. Scott, of Oxford, and whose acquaintance he had made while was in college. In 1854 he commenced the practice of law, and settled in Indianapolis. He soon rose to distinction in his profession, and gained prominence as a successful lawyer. Morton, and at once went into active service in Kentucky, Tennessee and elsewhere with the army of the Cumberland. During his absence the democratic Supreme Court declared his office vacant, but in 1864 he was re-elected by a large majority. He served in the army until the close of the war, attaining the rank of brigadier general, and receiving high commendation from his commanding

When the war was over he resumed the practice of law, in which he became wellknown throughout the State, and was often engaged in the most important law suits occurring in the West. In 1876 he accepted the republican nomination for Governor, and made a canvass of the State, but was

Having a strong preference for a business career, when sixteen years of age he was placed in a country store. By the time he attained his majority he was made a partner by his employer. In 1849 he removed to Boston, where he was admitted as a partner in a wealthy mercantile firm, his good fortune being due to his ability alone, as he had neither adequate capital nor influential friends to gain him the promotion. Five years after he made New York his residence, and opened a place of business in that city Prosperity attended him, and in 1863 he founded the banking houses of Morton, Bliss & Co., New York, and Morton, Rose & Co., London. Mr. Morton was elected to Congress from the Eleventh district of New York in 1878 as a republican. His majority was over 7,000 votes. He was re elected two years after. President Garfield nominated him as minister to France, which was unanimously confirmed by the Senate in March, 1881. The vacant seat thus created in the House of Representatives was filled by Roswell P. Flower, after a memorable contest. Mr. Morton was recalled from France by President Cleveland, and the va orary commissioner general to the Paris In-ternational Exhibition of Electricity.
